

ICTP101US

Abstract

The invention relates to a composite containing a porous carrier and an amphiphilic material. The composite may be employed in methods and systems for forming thin films on substrates.

205220 21728001